

Dear No Paul,

You are obviously well-educated on the subject. My hope is that you never give up on putting your wisdom/knowledge and passion to good use for the cause. We need all the Lisa's and No Paul's we can get. Change is in the air on many fronts. Let's not let this time of change slip by without doing all we can to lift our society up to the values and vision of an enlightened human-kind.

I, and all of us behind the wall, deeply appreciate it when anyone takes the time to really look at the criminal justice system with an educated mind and open heart. Here in prison we don't hear about the work people like you are doing. All we hear is the rubbish the nightly news spews out. I hope there is a legion of people like you and that we take full advantage of the instability currently in the air. Such times are times of change. Let's not, on some future date, look back and wish we realized the opportunities currently arising. It is often the case that the people in a historic time don't realize the significance of the opportunities they had,

Thanks again.

Peace!
