Blog,

Today's 4-20-11 it's about 5:30pm and I just got my first letter back from Between the Bars. I was happy to see someone made a comment, but sad it was only one, so if you are reading this please let me know what you think, and check out my profile. I will only be able to see your responses once or twice a month so it may take me awhile to reply, please stay with me.

To: BKS, who are you? where are you from? Have you read my profile it can answer a few of your questions, I am glad you took the time to reply to my blog. No, I do not have really any contact with any of my old friends or the little bit of family I have left, the only person I have left is my grandma and I love her so much, but she is sick and unable to help much.

Other than that the last couple weeks have been going slow nothing much is going on with me, I have been ↓ helping some guys with some paintings for their moms for mothers day and i've been playing handball, its just like racket ball but you use your hands.

I've been trying to find something good to read but i've ~~already~~ already read all the good fantasy books they have here.

I've been hoping to get a chance to read the twilight series but no luck so far.

I would like to thank everyone at Between The Bars, this is a great thing you are all doing. This blog does something great and that is it allows me a chance to express myself and have a chance at making a friend with out spending money I dont have, Again I Thank you!

Now I will end this for now, but if your reading this please reply or make a comment I need stuff to reply to and it brings a smile to my face just knowing someone is reading what I write. Bobby H.
