

DP, Prison sentences carry consequences to the families of inmates that are unnecessary and in many instances cruel. I'm sure that no matter what prison does to your incarcerated son it will never diminish his love for you. Prison does many things to its inhabitants, changes men in profound ways but no amount of cruelty, abuse, torture or isolation can defeat a son's love for his mother. I tell you this from experience and personal knowledge. I wish you the best and thank you for your comments.
