

What You Are

Your smile is a galaxy just discovered
In your eyes I see my destiny fulfilled

Your heart
A golden nugget from Nirvana

Your soul
The Southern wind caressing my lungs

Your hair
The sacred mantle over a Virgins shoulders

You're delicate
As an artists' brush creating master pieces

Your thoughts
Monarch Butterflies flying towards the Aztec land

Your cheeks
Cradles where my kisses rest

Your dreams
Pure and sacred as Mayan gold

Your fingers
Eagle feathers floating through the wind

Your eyelashes
Persian rugs from a distant land

Bring light to my darkness
Allow me to explore your galaxy

Fulfill my destiny

Permit a piece of your heart to adorn my chest

Let your spirit travel through my system forever

Wrap me in your mantle and keep me warm

Allow me a moment to create a poem for you

Wait for me inside that emerald forest with open arms

Let me rest til morning

Hold me inside your dreams

Point the way for me to travel and find you

Brush the curtains aside and meet the real me

Love yourself

And forever love me