

Greetings!

A famous author once said,
" Monsters are real, and so are ghosts, we all have them inside of us and sometimes they win. "

My question is, are those of us that has allowed those monsters and ghosts to win, are we exempt from love, forgiveness, and understanding from the ones that has
one the battle?

I would gladly appreciate any kind of feedback from anyone, male or female, and I respect ALL opinions!
Please feel free to get at me if corresponding with a incarcerated black male is not a problem for you.

May GOD bless you all!!
