

Prison Days By. Ricky Mayhew 3-26
2011

Counting days by making strikes on my wall, day in and out with no one to call. Sleepless nights no feelings at all, by day break standing so tall. Counted off like a strike on my wall

Prison days long and cold, ~~in~~ visions of women longing to hold. Days turn to months, and months turn to years. Day after day
Blood sweat and tears

my day will come but not soon enough. until Ft does, I'll be standing tough. Holding my head planting my feet, I will never give in to prison defeat.

A few weeks back Boston public schools were found with 3yr old expired food. How mass state prison? our food is "bad enough." you eat that crap!! What kind of idiots are they to show that on the news like us cons dont have t.v.'s 5-18-2011
