

"Stop the Violence"

Most importantly it's time to stop the violence. Changed our ways and actions on a positive level to see better days. The so-called gangsta life-style is corrupting our minds to the point we think violence nowadays is the way to solve our problems.

Nevertheless sadly to say people are either getting shot, killed for any and every little stupidity thing from wearing the wrong colors, looking at someone the wrong way, are drugs, money, woman, overall this self-destructive behavior pattern is really getting outta control and taking its toll over our lives, is there a solution to this problem, or would the madness ever stop. I really wonder will things change for the better, before it ever gets worst due to the gun violence mass-destruction in this world.

Let's fight for the good cause, by ending the violence overcoming the hate, as we know justice is not really being served. because if we'd really want peace then we must bring about peace, and last and not least respect.

The price of ignorance is far greater than the cost of a proper education.
