

Blog #4 Young Adult (Ages 18-30)

Beautiful Person Contest

Hey, readers! This is a whole-person beauty contest open to anyone between the ages 18-30, regardless of your gender. This means that entrants will be judged as a whole person (e.g. their intellect, their personality, their achievements, their service to others, etc.), by me, to determine who is the most beautiful.

All entrants must snail mail the following information to me by July 15th, 2011, at: Nathaniel Lindell P.O. Box 9900 Boscobel, WI 53805:

1. A 500 word or more (no more than 1,500 words) essay, with the entrant's name + address on top, explaining what makes you beautiful. A tip, tell Prometheus what he would find beautiful, how you've overcome adversity, helped humanity, etc.
2. Picture of yourself. It's optional. But, if you send one, make sure it contains no nudity + is not a polaroid-type photo + is no larger than 5" x 7". Make sure no other people are in any photo sent.
3. A signed release, verifying that you are the person in the picture, that you authored the essay, that you are age 18 or older, but no older than 30, and giving me permission to display your essay and photo (again, display of photo is optional) on my blog.

Entrants must have these entries, accompanied by five unused "Forever" postage stamps (on their original backing) in my hand by July 15th, 2011.

Winner will be announced the 7th of August, 2011, on this blog, as the Promethean King or Queen.

Beauty will not be judged by your gender, nor by my erotic inclinations. Tell me why Prometheus would find you beautiful.

There will be a runner up, named a Promethean Prince or Princess, along with five finalists. Their photo(s) + essays may also appear on this blog.

Don't be shy! Help me show the world the best of humanity!
