

Dear Friends

Hello My name is,
Thurl Light, im 24 years old, white male Looking For a good Honest Friend to talk to and pass the time with.

Well FIRST OFF let me tell you a little about myself, my home town is ST. Louis, MO, but I have been in California sence 2006, I moved out here with my baby's mother and I had 2 little girls by her and we was liveing the happy family life!, but one day I went to work and my friend that lived next door to me seen my ex-girlfriend TRYING TO STRANGLE my oldest baby girl so I kicked her out of our lives and got full custody. Well a few months went by and she called me asking to get visits to see the girls, and because im one that forgives because thats what the Bible teaches us, I let her come over to see the kids, well later that night we started talking and we ended up haveing some drinks and that night I sleep with her, and in the morning she went to the police and cryed out Rape so basicly she set me up and now im in prison for 10 years, and the reason she did it was she thought she could get custody of the girls sence I would be in prison, but it did not work my brother is takeing care of them till I get out., so yes I got the bad ~~end~~ end of the stick but she lost too, and I still have my Babys.

Now the reason I am telling you people this is because I have nothing to hide because I know I did not do this and so does my family, plus im very honest and I dont feel I need to lie to make friends, and I expect people that do respond to me to be 100% honest with me as well.

Anyways to get back to my introductory, things i enjoy doing, spending time with my girls and family, listening to music, reading the Bible, and I also enjoy writing meaningful letters.

I am basically looking for a friend or friend's that I can share my thoughts and dreams with and to help pass this time, because it does get lonely in a cell, and the only good thing we have to look to is our mail!...

Well im going to close for now and I hope to hear from you friends soon, feel free to ask any questions im very open.

Sincerely
Thurl Light
