

Hello, Again!

Puccesca, thank you very much for the inspiring comments you left on 5-14-2011!! It really makes my day when someone appreciates my artwork. Though my incarceration is very unfortunate, and sadly someone lost their life, I am greatly aware that much of my life has been a very unproductive waste, and even though I cannot change the past, I do have the power to do my part for a better future. I now realize that no matter who you are, where you are or whatever your situation may be, true freedom starts with the liberation of the mind.
