

"COMING FORTH"

BY PTAH AMEN HETEP

Before the beginning of time, all things existed as pure consciousness. When consciousness is focused, it becomes a thought, so thought is being conscious of a particular thing/s. This is the state of the Subjective Realm, where energy/matter doesn't exist.

There is a popular term we use which is, "The speed of thought". In all actuality this is not possible for thought is not energy/matter, thought is the causation of energy/matter.

Speed is the rate of motion it takes for an object to move from one point to another. Time is the measurement of the rate of motion over a distance. So without motion there is no time, and without energy/matter there is no motion.

It is known that the Objective Realm (physical universes) were made manifest by a word (vibration), and that word is supposed to be the name of the Creator. Now here lies the so-called mystery. Mystery meaning something hidden, (keep this in mind).

This name of the Creator is the most powerful Hekau (word of power), in existence, for it is the word (vibration) from which all things are made manifest from the Subjective Realm.

It is said that this Hekau is Aunk or Aung. I say that it was Amen (AMN). I've come to this reasoning from the fact that Amen means hidden, and we understand that that which is hidden is the force or essence of a thing. This is made manifest in the example of the dual nature of light. In light we have the Wave and the Particle. The wave is the disturbance created in the medium of this density from the tremendous word (vibration) AMN, carrying the Photon particle (RA); where we get Amen-Ra.

Not saying that light is the Creator (Neter) B.U.T. it is why we symbolize The Creator as light.

So we have thought emitting a vibration (Hekau) into the Objective Realm causing a disturbance (wave) carrying the manifestation of that thought into being. That is also why NU (unformed matter) or the primeval water is symbolized as a wave of water. All things must ride these waves into being.

Phoneticly Amen also means: A= to come, and Men= to establish, to abide, to Be. RA is the Life Force which animates formed matter and sustains it.

Thus concludes the degree of "Coming Forth".

"I am He who came into Being as the Creator. The Creator of Beings, after I became Being, many Beings came forth from my mouth. Not existed heaven, not existed Earth, not had been created the things of the Earth (plants), and creeping things in place that. I raised them up from out of NU, from a state of inactivity."
