

I AM THAT I AM

We as human beings have always been creative individuals. Just take a look at ancient civilizations. We have always used music, dance, art, and folklore as an important part of our culture.

What I'm saying is there is a time when the soul develops to a degree when it must express itself, what ever our choice of art maybe, we must create. Even if it's as a hobby.

I am not telling you to drop everything and wander the earth in search of your creative self; or your talent. Just find something that you enjoy, or something that you've been wanting to try and go for it!

Today's society has us to caught up in money issues, trying to get rich or just to pay the rent, taking care of the children, food, clothing shelter, etc. Which leaves us little time to be free.

So I know it is not an easy task, unless you are able to make money from your talent. And maybe through discipline and determination you mat turn a nickle.
