

8/24/11 BLOG...

Dear Sara,

Just received your post and must say that i was pleasantly surprised thank you.

I must agree with you on the quotes around my feminine pronouns, I do that for others benefit but you make alot of sense and I appreciate he advise thank you for raising my consciousness.

Our Trans Softball team The Pink Panthers have won the second game of the season and all the men are furious :) another notch for the girls. We are trying to organize a more organized Trans discussion group here at Mule Creek State Prison. Not easy to get the girls together without all the cat fighting. that is why I satrted with a softball team. That is one day a week we all have a common goal. It is a slow process convincing the Trans population that they can create their own destiny and it does not have to include prostitution and drugs. It always helps when they hear people on the outside rooting for us. I will share you letter at our next group. If you have any material on Trans please send to my address on my profile page so that I can share it with the group. Also if you know of any Trans newsletters please send those to. Thank you again for your comments. Thanks for being an ALLY.

You also must be fabulous...The world could use more people like you and your mind set..

All my best. Odi at amo 'excrusior'
