

May 2011
L

you will never know
true happiness
until you have
truly loved, & you'll
never understand
pain till its lost.

as I sit here
alone, & Dad by myself,
my heart cries out in
tears as a drop falls
from my deep brown
eyes for a love that was once shared between two people. It cries out for love to come back to me. The pain I feel is great, the loneliness is deep & wanting as it searches for comfort to ease the pain. The pain my heart contains not many can understand,
for it is real, true, never-ending love.

I have two choices in life in here now. (1) is to keep going, stay strong and live off memories once created: succeed for a better future. (2) is to give up, throw it all away for love. My mind says one thing, the heart says another. I feel so apart in mind, but so close w/in the heart.

All it took to fall so deeply in love was by his actions in everything, and only took (14) months to really realize once we got separated to feel & know real pain. Now I feel lost, and all I can do is take one day at a time: hope my heart finds love again.

By Ms. Precious

May 2011

I sit here and wonder and even ask myself if I'll ever find true love??...
I know it exist cause I once found it on October 6, 2008 and had it for a year and 1/2. Now that I lost him, my mind tells me I'm over it, but my heart says different, and can't let go. So I ask myself where do I go? who do I talk to? or will I find it again?.....

All my life I never knew love until I fell in love, that day was the happiest day of my life, oh what I'd do to once again grasp the wings of love. at times I get so lonely my heart beats sadness. I have a fragile heart from pain, but when it finds real love the strength is tremendous & deeper than any ocean, higher than any sky. So until my heart finds love again it will remain locked away until one frees it & releases the pain.....

"Precious"

By: Chris Rogers
1393423

2101 f.m. 369 N
Lower Park, TX.
760307