

A Materialistic World

8-24-11

The world pursues expensive food and luxurious clothing as ends in themselves. 7:05 a.m.

It has its heart set on things, without thinking of God and thanking Him for such pleasures. The materialistic world is like a group of passengers frantically scurrying to get the best deck chair on a sinking ship. When we are consumed with possessions, there can be little left in our hearts for God.
