

What is being a witch ??? Well it certainly ant Hollywoods stereotye that most people believe. No sorry I cant wave my wand and have all my wishes come true - I wish!
Being a Wiccan, or a witch as I prefer is the hardest path anyone could choose to follow.
I have been struggling on the path for nine years.
I have been a part of a few covens. But it doesn't matter which path you choose - solitary or group work - being a witch is not just magic it is life. It is doing rituals even when your exhausted from working. It is choosing not to spray the dandelions in your yard, even though it pisses off your neighbor with the perfect lawn. It is rejoicing in the changes of the seasons and sharing that beauty with others. And still after nine years I still consider myself a student. I realize that to grow spiritually one must always be open to learning something new.

But I am looking for a coven now for I can learn more if any one knows of any!!!! I would like to know. And I am also looking for people to write as pen-pals

But may your paths be full of wonder and and magic - Blessed Be

Joe
