I Think I Cried Last Night

I think I cried last night but I really don't know
My vision was blurry and I got lost in my memories
I wish I could press rewind and turn back the hands of time
I think I cried last night but I really don't know
The streets was all I thought about I called myself chasing that dow
Now you're alone when you need me the most
I think I cried last night but I really don't know
I'm so sorry For being selfish and selfcentered
But times have change and I really did grow
I matured so much I just wanted to let you know
I hope one day you can Foregive me but if not I understand and I will always love you
I cried last night

To: Brittmarie

Thank you For your comment.
I'm glad you like my writings
I will be sure to redue "I Messed up Bad"

To: Jenncropps

What's up Jenn? I'm glad you like my writings
I had to shake this depression
Solitary confinement can be stressful sometimes
And I can't write
But I have a Few writings that I started but never Finished that I will be posting
I hope you like them