

'Bloggers'

Looking for Friendship

hey whats up how you all doing? I haven't written in a while I've been down and out my girl and I had a very serious conversation and after 4 years she decided that being with a man who is doing life in prison is just too hard and even though I'm upset and sad I can't blame her one bit. thats one thing people don't understand is when your with somebody doing time your doing time with them.' so whats going on out there? what are you all doing for labor day? are there any single males or females out there who want to make a new friend, and maby even come and visit? well october first all the people that have been ordered to go to chino should be leaving. that is really going to empty out this yard. but who knows what kind of people will be coming to the yard. so sept 23rd is my birthday my EX said she still wants to come up and see me but I just don't know how to tell her that I don't think thats a good idea. I could go out there and just eat but thats not cool. that would just be using somebody. dam doing life in prison really sucks. but who knows I come up for parole in 2023 so if I stay on the same track that I'm on now I just may have a shot at getting out. alright if anybody wants to write back and maby strike up a friendship let me know. I will be happy to send a picture. hope to hear from you.

Jason M. Beck # F-73607

CSATF/state prison

P.O. Box 5242 E5 219

Meridian, ID 83212.