One Deep

I'm sitting back, reflecting on things that have been coming my way the past couple weeks. I've come to the conclusion: I'm one deep & I need to keep it "g." It's crazy to me to feel so emotionally screwed up, but then I guess I always been that way.

(lol)

Ok, seriously, I was sitting back really thinking about a few things that have been eating my lunch. I've always been me. With any person I have been with I've been me. You know, by nature I am independent, confident, & strong minded. Sometimes that gets me in trouble & at times people don't like that about me. For me to be as laid back as I am today tells me that there has been a change in me.

One Deep

Looking back to what I got in the mail last Monday two things came to mind: (1) someone would've been str8 roasted (2) I wouldn't feel any remorse for number 1. (LOL) It's sad - but true. I took time to think + not let anger get the best to me. Reality checked me: Nikkie you are one deep.

I think people got it twisted. They know I love God and want to follow His will for me. The fail to realize theres a beast inside this small package + boy anit nothing nice to tangle with that. Betta ask some-one; theres plenty that know the beast. It's a part of my flesh; I amazed I got the self control I got today.

I learned something from the haters in my life - if I didn't have them then I wasn't doing nothing. They sharpened me in major ways. They taught me to stand alone & ride one deep. In the end I knew I'd always have my back.

The thing is some people I never thought would be real with me, have been with me. There is a lot going on: a battle within my heart. Never have I found myself fighting such a conflict. It's always been a simple choice when it came to staying or leaving. Not this time.

It's like, my mind is telling me - "We been doing this one deep..." & yeah, I grinding that way for a long time. Now, I'm trying to live my life the way God requires me to. I know I am no longer one deep, but it's not easy. It's like the trials are to better me. I'm just tired of them.

One Deep

Yet, theres more trials coming. If not tomorrow - soon. How do I know, well, I asked for them.

Yep, sometimes I got to do things one deep & walk it out. My fiery trials arent half as bad as what Ive walked through in the past.

I guess people want me to lose my backbone... naw, that wont never happen. Not now, not ever. Being tough helped me to survive. People ought to count they blessings that my mouth & pen are being flip. They just dont understand - do they? Naw, I dont think so.

One deep,

Im straight riding
Master mind

Im now grinding
Twisted up

But Im down

One Deep

pg 5

Quit trippin'

Or Ima clown

One deep

Been round da block

held on

Now stake stock

Im real

To myself Im true

No time to play with you

One deep

get in gear

Im rolling

my time is near

Gonna move

then turn a page

stand tall

my lifes been changed

One deep

Tryin to figure it out

One deep - thats what Im talking about.
