

Aquarius

The Water Carrier.

A fixed Air Sign.

You tend to be independent, idealistic, intellectual and humanitarian — but can be emotionally detached.

The Eleventh (Astrological) House, Ruled by Aquarius, concerns friendships and affiliations, the influence of friends and organizations, social activities. It also deals with hopes, ideas and ideals and emotional detachment.

Okay, now as your Birth Sign: Aquarius, ruled by Uranus, highlights your characteristics and strengths... it is wise to consider the Polar (opposite) Sign of yours on the Astrological Sunwheel, as a sign regarded as the Other Self, your "Shadow side" — whose characteristics and strengths can help you to overcome opposition and your own weaknesses. Your Polar Sign happens to be Leo (Yashua's Sign).

♌ Leo, the Lion, A fixed Fire Sign — tends to be courageous, proud and loyal, a born leader, but needing the approval of others.

The Fifth (Astrological) House, Ruled by Leo, concerns creativity, love affairs and passions. Sport, exercise, celebrations, pleasure and risk taking.

Awesome, huh? You two (Astrological) Polar Opposites together tend to ballance each other. Naturally you've learned a lot from each other about yourselves, and therein you've developed your whole-selves into ballanced and adjusted individuals, honoring the characteristics of your Birth Sign and your Polar Opposite Sign — other self.

You might want to think of the Yin-Yang symbol  to keep your Polar Opposites in mind — or, while were on the Astrological topic, maybe you can think on other things associated with these signs. For instance, whereas Leo of course is represented by Lions, Tigers and other big cats, and their virtue is courage and nobility — which you can think on in behalf of your 'other self' ... Aquarius is represented by Large Birds, capable of sustained flight, such as Eagles, Herons and the Albatross, their virtue is to exist free of ~~material~~ material concerns and the burdens of convention.

Maybe you want to tattoo an Eagle within your crest design and your wife the Heron. You both being Aquarius.

There's Trees associated with your Polar Signs too, Will. Leo has Orange/Lemon Trees and Laurels too, Leo Trees can give courage and certainty of success to those who may doubt their own abilities. Aquarius has Orange/Lemon/Grapefruit Trees, and the Flowering Cherry Tree. They strengthen integrity and resolve when principles are at stake.

Okay, a Cherry for your wife's Crest and — a lemon in yours? Polar colors ??? Leo is Gold — representing Ambition and Aquarius is White — representing Independence. Astrological Incense and Oils: Leo — frankincense or cinnamon. Aquarius: Lemon or Juniper.

Why am I listing all this info for you. All Knowledge is Power — if you can find a use for it! Look, blossoming cherry trees can always be that reminder to you when you're in a jam lacking resolve ... and then thinking upon your wife, those blossoms will strengthen your integrity. Or maybe you will keep some frankincense on you when you want to embrace the character of Yash and rely upon your shadow-self when you doubt your own abilities. If you see an Eagle or Heron in flight when you're tripping on some burden of convention, I'd take it as a sign — ya know. Look, Acknowledge God in all your ways and everything can communicate signs to acknowledge

Here are some old pictures of Bill Kruger in Montana dug out of storage for me. By the way, have any of you received those 5 pictures (each to you, Yash, Dest.) Brandon has been holding hostage since February? Get em back for me, will you please. I didn't have my Blog-site at the time, or I would never have entrusted them to him. 'nuff said?
