

His Love

Sitting on a porch
With a widdle in hand
Animal like head would appear
Then Grampa would spit a chew

Id run home
Hurring past the general store
As Grandpa would be waiting
To show me his finished widdle

He hands me my birthday present
My first knife?
And a wad of chew
Sweet memories of his years

By James Collins