

Yall deserve a better. Amen.

10-26-11

Sorry bout my 2 month hiatus. I was hard pressed for stamps - plus I'm still trying to prioritize! Yes the fear of failure has me doing too much!

Passing out chocolate milk on Saturday - laundry ~~Sun-Mon~~ Sun-Fri. So here I am working 7 days a week. Then trying to find a couple colleges to attend. Fashion Bible wise. or maybe I should keep teaching myself fashion design & allow Gods grace & mercy teach me His holy word. Amen. Then I gotta write 2 memoirs & like 4 other books, play ball, lift weights, study, spend time w/people, eat, & sleep. Go figure.

And my life can be summed up in the following:

"I went NOWHERE FAST
- now -

I'm going SOMEWHERE SLOW"

Yeah I'm working on the "Slow" part.

Still w/me ... ??

Hey here's an idea that hit me last week?

So 2 NFL players were fined - one for an obscene gesture & one for a late hit. Think the fines were $5,000. & $15,000 respectfully. That's a total of $20,000

If I'm not mistaken that money goes to charity. Well, w/all due respect I had a thought.

"Hey, ~~calle~~ celly. wouldn't it be cool if they save $\frac{1}{2}$ the money to charity & $\frac{1}{2}$ the money to the economy. Like I'm sure some fleecing business could use the money."

Think about it...

Couldn't somebody in your local economy use $2,500-$7500?
Couldn't someone use that for medical expenses? For student loans? Couldn't schools use it - some kind of way? What about a food pantry (aren't they struggling w/donations)?

Sure y'all full of suggestions & Being out there & all. Amen
My ideas are limited based on my current location - never-the-less. Maybe if you like that idea you could contact the NFL, MLB, NBA etc... & your local congressman/woman, Senator, etc... even Pres. Obama.

After all don't fans give money to the athletes. I mean they buy jerseys, tickets, memorabilia, cards, etc... what bout when they support the company(s) that athletes endorse? (Time to give back. Yes $$!) 9/13

Couldn't some small done away with /struggling program use some $ money? Exactly.

On another note couldn't companies cut cost on products by using cheaper packaging. Instead of psychologically brain washing me with branding strategies? I mean "prison" pretzels went up 14¢!
I mean, couldn't "the company" have slapped them in a clear bag w/a "company" logo sticker? Who wouldn't that save on cost & help the company still meet its bottom line? wouldn't ~~consumers~~ still consumers still be brand loyal? Wouldn't the pretzels still be just as pretzelly? (new word?)? wouldn't they still sell for $1.79?

Guess now we should write our local company(s) consultants!

One day I'm gone have a company or a fleet of em
& we promise to do that. To cut cost on branding/marketing/packaging just to bring you lower cost ie kick of cost increases. Amen. So help me God.

Thanks for listening, sorry if I'm not intellectual enough to speak on the "vanguard" "right wing left" "liberals" & so on & so forth.

I'm just a regular duckie doing extraordinary things.
I like that.
