

PAUL BEHIND THE WALL...

CHANGE IS...
POSSIBLE EVEN IN THIS NIGHTMARE OF PRISON LIFE....

1971/11, Just when you think your lost or living in limbo some thing happens that is life changing, uplifting, Faith renewing, and it happens by any number of things, perhaps you see something that rekindles your belief in the general good of people or you read something about people reaching out to other people and making a difference in their life, or somebody comes into your life who has all the characteristics of being a very special human being.

And next thing you know it's a brand new day and hope is burning bright once again... I have been in prison going on 16 years and I have spent much of tha time trying to find myself, trying to decipher the many facets of my person to get an understanding of why I went down the path I did, and what I plan to do with it now. This journey into self has been continuous and is ongoing. I am always reviewing and asking the Creator what the lesson is in any given situation. Today I believe that there is a lesson in all things if we only take the time to look. I used to think that bad things happened to me for no reason, that it was always somebody else fault, anyones but mine, boy was I mistaken....

Today I walk my walk being accountable and responsible for my actions, Today, I have empathy for my fellow human beings and want to give back in whatever small way that I may, whether its educating the offender so that they might think twice before committing another crime or if it is only to make my world a little better. My flame of change is lit and it's good people like you who lwrite or leave blogs that are my fuel of hope that the world will someday come to understand that CHANGE IS POSSIBLE.

I'm Paul Behind the Wall...waiting to read your voice...

Bobbie, your words resonates to my soul and know this.. your truly inspirational and I whole heartedly applaud you..;) Eres una mujer muy hermosa y sympatico, eres mi bendicion..;)

@ Axel, Hello my fellow passionate human being, your words are insightful and on the money you sound like a person who has seen through the veil of deciet and fear mongering that is our system in America for filling its prisons. The 150,000-170,000 prisoners in California alone should speak for it self and the Prison Industry continues to get fat on the tax payer...more later on this topic..welcome aboard.....
