

Moms

There are words
Having to do with moms
Anchored by thier love
No one can deny that
Keats could not define a mothers tie

You thi9nk upon thier memories
Over and over they surface
Upon your heart they remain

Mom is always near
On man and beast alike
Moments that need no words

By James COLLINS