

Season's Greetings!

12.20.11

It's been a long while since I have written to my blog! I guess this is because nothing has really changed over here on my end. "I do see parole anyday now!" I really hope I receive a good answer. My goals are pretty much the same, I still want to go out there and start my apprentice job as a tattoo artist. I'm also considering getting into graphic design. Anything that involves my creativity, then I'm into it!" I'm worried that since I will be fresh out of prison that it will be very hard for me to get a start on my plans. I will be judged." That's not a cool feeling. Well I would love to hear any feedback! Have a safe and happy holiday! I hope Santa brings you everything you ask for! ☺

♡ Sabina