DONNA

Hello Love,

I wish you and your husband a belated, but very Happy and Blessed New Year's. Donna, please know that it was never my intent to make you feel any sadness, nor guilt, for my situation.

My circumstance is by my own design. It is not a reflection on you, or the family. NO there is no "BLUEPRINT" for the foundation, construction or finished project for the perfect family. We work with what God, has bestowed upon us. God, is the best of planners.

What I told you in my letter before, that I thought about you before I ever received your letter was sincere and truthful. So maybe this is God's, way of bringing us together as a family. Also, of answering an unasked for prayer-I have truly missed you, and I love you deeply. They say that God gives you what you need when you truly need it. I need, want, and desire my family in my life-by my side holding me up, and keeping me strong.

I pray that "WE" never allow "ANY" circumstance(S) to separate "US EVER AGAIN!" I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Love Always,

Teze
