

MONOTHEISM: THE CONSTRAINTS OF RELIGION ON MAN?

vs.

EVOLUTION/DARWINISM: ORIGINS OF THE SPECIES?

Does belonging to one of the world's few monotheistic religions equate to assimilation, brain-washing, slavery, or lose of free will?

Verses Darwinism/Evolution, and atheistic beliefs? Where there is no power higher(greater) than your "OWN" thoughts, ideas, opinions or philosophies. Where life is what "YOU" make, what "YOU" want it to be, or what "YOU" believe it should be.

WHERE GOD BUILT A CHURCH, THERE THE DEVIL WOULD ALSO BUILD A CHAPEL.....

Which is fact and which is fiction? I believe in the "ONENESS" of GOD. I believe in God's Holy Books, in His angels, in His Prophets, and that on the Day of Judgment, we will held accountable for all our deeds; both good and bad.

OUR FATE IS FIXED, IT IS OUR DESTINY THAT MUST BE SEIZED.

However, one of my associates in here is a staunch believer in Darwinism-Evolution. He is a true believer in intelligent design...the big bang theory. He is a through and through atheist! I usually will not engage in conversations like this with people, for several reasons; ONE) People are entitled to their belief system; TWO) The conversation usually doesn't end well; THREE) What/how you believe is so engrained into your psyche no good comes from the conversation, no ground is gained, either way; and, FOUR) Wars over religious beliefs have been waged for centuries. However, you believe, enough blood and lives have been shed in the name of "RELIGION". Because it is not done for God's benefit, nor in His NAME-NO! It is done at the hands of men to foolish to understand God's, true intentions for mankind.

Anyway, I and my associate have found a way to have spirited, yet, respectful conversations on this topic. So I would like to have this conversation with you, if I may, and hear your thoughts, ideas and opinions on this topic. I love to learn, and a open mind is a fed mind.

Does Darwinism deserve that status of "established scientific fact" any longer? The dogma of Darwin is that humanity is a random product of TIME+MATTER+CHANCE. This is a nihilistic conclusion, that is not based on any reliable foundation.

I still have a very hard time wrapping my head around this intelligent design theory. I have read up on it some and I don't get it. Maybe my concept of understanding is not superior enough to grasp Darwin's concept. I am by no means an INTELLECTUAL!

Scientist Lehigh Behe, authored a publication called "Darwin's Black Book", in 1996. It talks about molecular evidence and cellular complexity; and were these amazing and complex cells by Genius or Genetic Lottery?

This theory by Mr. Behe, is the concept for intelligent design. Darwinism is grounded in philosophical preference, not scientific-inference. Oscar Wilde, said, "Our lives are the sum total of our life experiences." Maybe the sum total of ~~Behe's~~ Darwin's life experiences led him to believe that God does not exist? Or was there a dramatic episode in his life, that made him turn his back on the belief in a higher power? These are questions that may never be answered, and are they even relevant now?

The Big Bang Theory! The theory that billions of years ago, there was this huge explosion in the universe, where planets, the moon, sun and billions of molecular cells were created. From this complex cell(s) man evolved billions of years later. THE ORIGINS OF THE SPECIES-OF MAN...EVOLUTION! Is this theory even remotely possible?

IS SCIENCE THE TRUE ENEMY OF FAITH, OR IS THIS ARGUMENT SOMETHING USED TO INTRIGUE THE MASSES?

Man has done much in this world, our experiences help shape us in good and bad ways. For some to "Wish" that life is that easily defined is scary. "What does it profit a man to conquer the whole world but lose his soul?"

I read a quotation from Hamlet, a while back, and it has stuck with me:
" Undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveler returns; Hamlet's "undiscovered country was death", mine is life". I am paraphrasing the quote, nevertheless, for me it means that to die with out the belief in God, is a real death. To died with faith and belief in the Oneness of God, means life is everlasting. I have no clue what Shakespeare true interpretation is, but that's ^{my} interpretation of it.

Genesis 1:1 In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. Holy Bible

Prophet Muhammad, is said to have told His companion Abu Sa'id Bin Al Mu-Alla, oneday while praying in the Mosque, " I will teach you a surah which is the greatest surah in the Qu'ran". I will only write about one verse here, just to make my point.

Al-Fatihah 1:2 All praise be to Allah, Lord of all the worlds. Holy Qu'ran

Whether you're a christian or muslim, one thing is universal? the belief that there is only one God. There is no deity but God! I do not knock anyones belief's, our belief system is what sustains us, and through faith we understand that the world was framed by the word of God.

Believing in God, for me doesn't mean I've been assimilated, brain-washed, enslaved or striped of my free will. On the contrary, the first thing that God, gave man was intellect, the ability to think for ourselves...FREE WILL!
God, had more faith in us than we had within ourselves...Or we have in HIM.

I am not a ultra-religious person, all I can truly say for certain is that I believe in God. With the free will to submit that will to God, if I choose too. God doesn't take our will from us by force, it must be freely given to HIM.

I blogged about this because I would truly love to know what other people feel/think about this subject. I and my associate will continue our "spirited" conversations, because it inspires me to better myself, huble myself and educate myself.

It is said that man should search for knowledge, even if that journey takes you to the shores of China.

I would also like to say that what I know about Darwinism, intelligent design evolution and the big bang theory is very limited. I have read some, but nothing extensive on the topic. But I have read enough to know that Darwin's theories have been widely discredited by all "SANE" thinking scientists. In fact "ALL" sane thinking scientist say that God does exist. Nothing in the scientific world disclaims this known fact, belief and faith. No molecular cell was washed up on the shores and evolved into mankind.

However, tell me what you think. I would like to wish you all a very Happy and Blessed New Year's, and may your 2012 be a safe and healthy one.
