

"The Black Child Pledge" of: Nasir Wali Muhsin...

*I pledge allegiance to my black community and people.
I pledge to develop my mind and body to the greatest extent possible as I will learn all that I can in order → that I may give my best to my people in their struggle for growth, devolvement and liberation. I will keep myself physically fit, building a strong body free from drugs and other substances which weaken me and makes me less capable of protecting myself, my family and the whole of my black race. I will unselfishly share my knowledge and understanding with them in order to bring about change more quickly. I will discipline myself in order to direct my energies thoughtfully and constructive rather the wasting them in idle hatred. I will train myself never to hurt or allow others to hurt or harm my black brothaz and sistaz for I recognize that "we" need every black man, woman, and child to be physically, mentally, and psychologically strong. These principles I pledge to practice daily and to teach them to others in order to unite our people and encourage them to establish a foundation of family, community, and love. I pledge I am: "Nasir Wali Muhsin".*

"Words of wisdom" 2010.

*P.S... Black, Red, White Or yellow
We should all Pledge to BETTER
OUR PEOPLE, TO TEACH EACH OTHER AND TO BE STRONG AND KNOWLEDGABLE AND ALTHOUGH I PLEDGE TO MY "BLACK SISTERS & BROTHERS", I PLEDGE*
