

W E L C O M E 2 0 1 2

I'm actually writing this blog entry as 2011 comes to a close. I swear New Years is the same in prison..... boring (HA HA). This year though, I find joy in writing something to send out in the free world.

For some reason I think 2012 will bring some great things for those who least expects it. A woman will recover from breast cancer, a son will come home from prison with his act together, someone's business will take off, an old friend will forgive a past transgression, that leaky sink will get fixed, people will get along in Congress.....well probably not that one, (HA HA) but a lot of good things are to come in 2012.

My goal for 2012 is to concentrate on what I need to do as I get closer to freedom. The end is near for me and I plan on taking a serious approach to how I finish doing my time. I also want to promote my blog more..... I think this platform is excellent in meeting positive people, networking, getting and receiving motivation and encouragement, as well as expressing myself in ways I can't behind these walls.

I welcome 2012 and all the good and bad that will come with it. In 2012 achieve a goal, conquer a fear, overcome an obstacle, or simply try something new. I thank you in advance for supporting my blog, your kind words, inspiring sorties, and motivation.
