

Some Guys.....

Looking for love can be a daunting task. Some guys have all the luck. Some guys feel lucky if a pretty girl smiles at them. Some guys have too many women. Some guys have never been with a woman. Some guys dream of the perfect woman and the perfect marriage. (Yes real men dream about fairytale lifestyles). Some guys shun the thought of marriage. Some guys are faithful. Some guys can't keep it in their pants. Some guys love to play the game. Some guys are tired of playing games. Some guys look for love and find it instantly. Some guys look for love in all the wrong places. So my question is this; where is love located and how do you know when it's real? When you have a burning desire to be in love but can't seem to grasp it, do you continue to bait your hook with your heart and troll through the sea of love? Eventually you'll catch someone..... right???
