

Dreaming of a Rainbow

Dreaming of a rainbow because everything is black and white

so it's hard to let the pain go 'cause it still aint right

We gotta fight in the courts can't afford no justice

'cause a public pretender is just a government puppet and they rush us to take more time to do

When the government commits more crimes than you, what's truth when the legal system is filled with lies

Leaving the kids broken hearted - tears fill their eyes

I want to cry 'cause everything is a mess right now

Go and try – everything is a test right now

Let's renounce the system 'cause it's the problem

If you wanna build a house, build it from the bottom

Let's start it, regard it more than yo' self, yo' clothes, yo' cars and material wealth

God help, please tell me, is America's promise a lie?

If they meet me half way, I promise I'll try

But everybody greedy, they all trying to impress each other

Instead of giving to the needy, they oppress their brother stress each other

We can all have rest and comfort if we only got rid of that green eyed monsta'

Raise our youngsters right – what's moral today?

Living life in the ghetto aint normal you say

Give me some democracy, I aint seen none today

I only seen black men gettin' locked away

'cause there's a rule for the rich and a rule for the poor

Aint no rules for peace, it's only rules for war

There's laws for the blacks and laws for the whites

There's a law for the day and a law for the night

Equal justice under law is filled with flaw

'cause it aint no law if it aint for all

Not a law for classes but law for the masses
Police got laws to harass us and laws to blast us
They say 'that's the way it is,' but that's how you let it
If you don't do nothing, then it won't get better . . .

Still dreaming of a rainbow
Trying to let the pain go
Even if the rain do stop
How we gonna share what's in the pot?
