Young Will,

It's been awhile since your late November posting to me promising to take pictures of baby Haven. I pray all is well with you all.

As for myself... as you see from the above, I've been contacted about your MOMS pending (3-1-12) court date for child support hoops she has to jump through for Yashua and David. Weren't all of you adopted when she surrendered our parental rights back in 2000? So how is it that Sutter Co. is trying to make her jump through hoops now - 12 years later?

I was pretty pissed to learn in 2008-9? that your Mom had remained in your lives all these years and hadn't let me know. Those were the loneliest - most hellish years of my life! Never the less, I am blessed to know that you all did keep that love alive between you. And even though I get pissed on occasion, I would still travel through hell to come to your MOMS rescue (No strings attached). Ask her if she'd like for me to do some legal research and find a solution for this situation with Sutter Co.

Also, when you reply to this - I wish that you would update me on how your brothers and sisters are doing. I love you bud... and I wish you all the best in every way.

Be Blessed.
