

P.P. ,

It is always nice to hear from an old friend especially one I have so much respect and admiration for. Its also good to see you've enjoyed my latest blog entries... I simply post what I'm thinking, feeling, experiencing or going through but its good to know as long as its posted the possibility to be heard exists.

Please take the time to share my blog with others as to I find the comments encouraging, uplifting, and very motivational. Thanks for your kind words too.... I haven't been getting the best of news within this prison and its a blessing to receive your words and much appreciative of them.

im

Take care out there and please.... never feel the need to be a stranger... we're tighter than that.
