

Tom -

Hey Grandpa. It was really good to hear from you. Thanks for your kind words. I'm doing really well. How's the rest of the family? What are you doing for work now? Do you still talk to or see anyone from our YMCA days?

You know me, I'm getting ready for fantasy baseball. Trying to figure out where to take Ryan Braun since he beat his dirty test. Funny, I actually was just recently talking about our Hooters trips with a couple friends. Those were always fun. Maybe again in a couple years. I asked my cousin to also get in touch with Jay L. Hopefully, I will hear from him too. For a long time there was the embarrassment issue where I felt like I couldn't face anybody. Now, to be honest, I don't care. I did what I did and I regret hurting people, but beyond that I don't really owe anybody anything (except my family and one friend that have been there the whole time). If someone wants to judge me, so be it, they have that right, but I'm in a good place now. A place I may not have gotten to had I not come to prison, so it's all worth it. Now I'm just interested in reconnecting with people who are willing to do so. You're one of the first to respond. I appreciate that, though I'm not surprised. You always had a heart of gold. I hope you'll stay in touch and I hope you enjoy the rest of the stuff I put up on here.

until next time...
