Hello Kori, I got your letter, and it couldn't have come at a better time--a bad storm hit last week and the wind actually took out large sections of the prison's fence, so ... we're on a lock-down. Being restricted to my cell is a pretty sucky day, but having a letter arrive brightens it up more than you could ever imagine.

Thank you!

I hope we can write many letters to one another. I don't know when this lock-down will end, probably in just a couple of days, but I don't know. I have a letter for you, but need to go to the Mail Room to get sufficient postage for Hong Kong; I'll most likely write more letters and put them all together for whenever I can get up to the Mail Room.

I have plenty of envelopes, postage here in the U.S. is 0.45¢, and for international is $1.05. I have lots of words to share with you, and no price can ever really be put on a good friend.
