TO. Christslave

Greetings. I received your comment on the blog and my salvation. Thank you for your concerns. However I just don't have any faith. I lost my faith years ago, and I lost faith when I was studying the bible. I went in and accepted Jesus as my personal savior on blind faith, word of mouth. Over the next year of reading and studying the biblical text my faith would fall apart. I really don't want to go any deeper into that. I don't want to destroy other people's faith. We all need something to believe. Me - I believe in myself, the here and the now. And if there is anything after this, I'm not worthy of it in my eyes. I am the unforgiven. But thank you for your concerns. In peace & love Bonnie
