Greetings World.

Being exiled to these penal colonies for the rest of my life - separated from loved ones and friends, has been pretty hellish. Well rather, it's been pretty purgatorial. For me at least; adversity introduces a man to himself -

Yet there are others who ... never mind! I won't bring others into this. But I do want to post these two most recent memos/updates, on what's happening here at this particular institution.

For any who know anything about the caliber of people here, I will say: of the 33 prisons in Califelonny, this one is one of the least draconian. Not exactly congenial, but I do manage to get through the days more entertained than stuck in despondency.

It could be much worse.

and has been much worse!
