"The King of the South" March 8, 2012

On March 2, 2012 I was reading in my "Vibe Magazine" December 2011/January 2012 Issue Was a article inside by (The King of the South).

Clifford T.I. Harris Jr. One of my favorite hip-hop rappers in the music industry. Called: An Informational Meeting with The King.

First he was in The Georgia Diagnostic and Classification Prison (GDCP)

Which he was removed from there within twenty-eight days. T.I. did not serve his latest bid at (GDCP).

His 11 months for a 2010 parole violation (more on that later) were served at Arkansas Forrest City Federal Correctional Complex.

I'm writing because Clifford T.I. Harris Jr. made a mature statement in his article. About if you're gay you should have the right to be gay in peace. And if you're against it you should have the right to be against it in → 1 of 1 peace. That really touched my heart to know he has an open mind towards Human-Nature Affairs.

I live an alternative lifestyle and, I refuse to change for anyone. Take it or leave it.

I've been a huge fan of T.I.'s since March 6, 2004 that's a total of eight years in three days. Now, he's been through the struggle from going to jail for buying weapons with silencers on them bought from one of his old bodyguards back in 2008.

Being found in his home in Atlanta, Georgia.

To methamphetamines and, ecstasy found in his (car) and his wife Tiny took the fall with him in the end. T.I. has done county jail and, Federal state time and, the list goes on. But overall he's still standing tall. 1 of 2 →

I think he's sexy meaning face, body etc. No disrespect to his wife Tameka Tiny Cottle. She's a blessed female, to have a man in her corner bad or good boy he's a rebel in my eyes. I read about him in all my magazines Vibe, Jet, Ebony etc.

I'm writing because we as human beings must not be judgemental towards nobody in this world.

Straight, Gay, Bisexual etc.

"This is America the Land of the Free". I would love to meet T.I. in person. I love all his rap music too.

I like the fact he's a man to his wife in children that's very important as a man, always put the work in sweet heart. I'm currently incarcerated, But, I got to remain strong. Trouble don't last always. I tell myself this every day. The "only" advice I can give "you" is Keep going hard boys make excuses men get the job done.

Once again Thank-you for the shout out to all of us with a alternative lifestyle.

I'm one of your biggest fans.

You've earned your title (The King of the South).

Enough Said :

I'm open for any opinions or comments.

yours, truly
