

Rush Limbaugh Is an Idiot

by Jeremy Finson

One thing that irks me the most about the Republican party is how they have seemingly turned disingenuousness into an art. And how they seem to take the position opposite anything progressive or modern sometimes is just to be contrary I believe.

Rush Limbaugh, the conservative pickhole revered by so many in the Republican party, recently showed that he's really just a fat, woman-hating, misogynist when he viciously attacked 3rd year law student Sandra Fluke for committing the awful sin of saying what the majority of Americans believe: that contraception is a useful form of preventative medicine. That Rush apparently believed women needed birth control with each episode of intercourse was the first indication of his fundamental ignorance on the subject but his calling Fluke a "slut" and "prostitute" because she stood up for women's health demonstrate's that Rush like most prominent Republicans wouldn't be happy unless America was controlled by fat, rich white men like him whose favorite pastime was to bash women, gays and other "undesirables". Instead of calling feminists "feminazi's" Rush should do a comparison of his beliefs to Nazism and feminists to the same. He'd learn he has far more in common with Nazis than feminists do. He'd also realize he's an idiot.
