

D O W N T O N S A B B E Y

I've been privileged to see the second season of "Downtons Abbey". I was surprised to see that over 30 million people were tuning in to watch the show. The show is on Sundays...I actually thought I might be the only one in the world who watched it (HA HA). But for the most part it was refreshing to see so many others took interest in the program.

I'm still not sure what the attraction is for me yet...If nothing else I'm amazed at how the interactions are between the rich and the servants. Its as if two world exist within one yet everyone works cohesively for the proprietary of the families home and reputation.

Other factors stand out to me as well...the want to do or be more in life such as the maid turned secretary, the desire to love by any means as with the chauffeur and Cybal, the ability to be charitable if you can like opening Downtons Abbey to the wounded soldiers and loyalty to those you respect as the maids and servants dedication to the family.

"A lot" of the "Downtons Abbey" series are foreign to me and the way I've lived my life but, I think that's what appeals to me as well....its something different. I truly believe one must open his or her mind to new ideas or concepts in order to grow and its the freshness of this series that has really delighted me.

If your a fan of the program or haven't seen it at all then please do and exchange your views, concerns, ideas, and comments with me about it.
