

Lisa,

Got your response—thanks!

I would like to know did you get your degree in psychology? If so, please read the ~~the~~ post on my blog called: Why are Americans so Angry? I had saw a show that featured two social psychologists. They were both saying that Americans are angry. So, I began thinking about all sorts of things that only—at that point—began to make sense. Those thoughts led to the post. (I would like to know YOUR thoughts???)

On a final note, you had mentioned Womens Studies as a undergraduate course. Well, have you read the book: But some of us are brave?

It's a really good book. plus, it's recommended for all serious students of Womens Studies. Go to your university library and check it out.

Writing Materials

<http://between-the-bars.org/blogs/285>

Pharaoh

peace.

Note: be sure to get right back at me.

cc: