The tension between Israel and Iran requires no interference by ANY other countries. However Russia states it will get involved on the side of Iran which can only spark the possibility of war between Russia and the U.S..

My view? Let Israel and the Prince of Persia handle their own business. If the Prince of Persia is ignorant enough to declare war upon the chosen of Elohim then let that be his destruction. We are told by scripture that (God's) chosen will not be annihilated and especially by the Prince of Persia.

All I can say is, in the end (God) Elohim WINS!

Shalom from the opinionated one.
