Kristineh, thank you for your response to my post. It was good to hear from you. You're welcome for the card and no I did not receive the pics of "Cory". I appreciate that you are trying to make a visit however that would require you filling out the Visitation Questionnaire I recently sent you since too much time has passed since your last visit approximately 2 years ago.

I am glad that you've found my Blog and that they will notify you of this response. Please share my blog address with anyone and everyone, the more the merrier. I've not heard from Cyn since I wrote her back thanking her for the card, I'm assuming she does not wish to correspond, in any case I'll keep her in prayer as well as you and yours.

Nothing from the two that never lived either, but that's not surprising now is it? One day I'll have just as much time for them too.

Love hugs and kisses and don't work too hard!
Bubba.
