

WE ARE GODS

We really are, this isn't even a new idea because every religion and philosophy which exist will eventually touch on this simple truth. From Christianity - Jesus mentioned this several times - to Buddhism - simply put if you create the world around you you'd have to be a god, it comes down to this how can you be the child of a God and not be a God yourself? If we were face to face I could prove it to you rather quickly but we're not so I shall endeavor to do it with words. For your entire life you have been told what you can and cannot do, you have been told how you should and shouldn't live your life, you have been told what is good and what is evil and you have been told the biggest lie any being in endless history of existence ever had temerity to voice. That you are not and never could be perfect. You are without a doubt the most perfect you that was ever intended. I know this because God told me he told me in almost every religious, spiritual and philosophical text ever written. To be quite honest it's simply common sense, how could an all knowing, perfect God create anything flawed? God loves you so much he spent billions of years designing you and he took a part himself to give you life, he lives your life with you, every joy, every tear, every orgasm, every hug, every frustration, every jealousy, everything you experience the creator experiences with you. I know you all have heard of the power of positive thinking and most of you probably thought "oh what a nice concept" and then continue living your life in misery, why don't you try it? I mean seriously try it. I promise you it will work because it works for me and even though I'm a God I AM IN NO WAY AN ANGEL. Take for example placebos, whenever in test after test when this pill (which is mostly sugar) is offered to a subject and said person is told it will help their condition, it does. How and why does this happen? It's simple, the person believes it in the mind makes it happen. A hypnotist tells a subject that a feather is a flame and when he touches the subjects arm a blister forms. This happens everyday in our lives and somehow it's dismissed, this power is not always used in a positive way. Some people use it to punish themselves or others and this use of our gifts is what makes life on this planet so miserable and violent. I propose a challenge, hell dare you all to test me for 1 year for just 1 minute every night, I want you to think about how wonderful life is and concentrate on knowing you are going to get that one thing you want - concentrate on just 1 thing and the beauty of life. I guarantee you will get it by the end of that period and you will notice that life in general has improved for everyone around you. If it doesn't work for you contact me and I'll personally make it up to you for wasting the 6hr and 5 minutes of your year, you are my word of honor on it. But it will work trust me. Peace & Love
