

My New Email And Update by Jeremy Pinson

Many of you out there in cyberspace have sent me letters over the last year and I am truly grateful for the support. Some of you though complain how hard it is to make trips to the post office. Well, I have good news. You can send an email to:

fpu President@gmail.com and a very gracious supporter will print it out once a week and mail it to me. Please do not email me anything not appropriate to receive in prison.

For those of you wondering where I am, I am in Houston, Texas due to having been granted a new hearing in my neverending appeals of my criminal conviction. Wish me Luck!
