Deblegs,

Thanks for your comment! I swear this is getting repetitive (LOL). Its funny because I just wrote a Simon and Lisa heard pretty similar letters because I got the same comment from the three of you:

"Thanks for writing! I finished the transcription for you posts."

Do the three of you know each other? And Deblegs... What the heck does "transcription" mean? (HAHA). None the less, I was happy to receive your comment and I thank you for acknowledging my post.

Where did you come up with the name "Deblegs"?
Are you tall? I'm just very curious how people think up online names in general.

April has been an extremely slow month for me and the repeatedness of each day in here has been weighing heavily on my mind so I'm not going to lie... receiving that comment from you and the others was comforting. I can't say thank you enough but... thank you.

Read a couple more of my posts and share them with others. I appreciate your opinions, comments, and opinions. I also invite you to write me directly if you like. In the mean time take care.
