

Women...I Admire Your Strength

Women are so strong. I mean you always hear about a young single mother holding down a job, going to college, and maintaining a steady relationship. Most women have so many reasons to justify underachieving, but they use all those reasons to overachieve...that is strength to me.

I admire & respect a woman who can see life for what it is and make the best out of it. The truth is, many women these days are on top of their game, and men need to take notice and either catch up or don't complain about being left behind.

Ladies, I personally have been inspired by your courage, strength, and ambition. I'm proud of all of you. I myself am educating myself and evolving as a man to bring something more in your lives as a father, friend, mentor, boyfriend, husband, or whatever you need to me to be...I will be prepared to be the man of today that can appreciate the woman of today. Strong, Educated, Wise, Nurturing, and Unique woman of today...continue to rise and please know that men like me look forward to growing with you.
