

I APOLOGISE PLEASE FORGIVE ME

I write this to apologise to a dear sweet kind loving compassionate woman, who is a wonderful friend. Dina. And I owe her a public apology. I am very sorry and please forgive me.

see Dina ran my first blog thedeathrowpoet.blogspot.com for over a year. she did a great job. I enjoyed working with her, and I'm so grateful for all the time and energy she put into it. Dina has more mercy and compassion in her heart than any one I've ever met. she has a heart of gold. I offended her in my blogs... by stating that the old blog was a lot of FLUFF. I didn't mean FLUFF in a negative way. Let me explain. I'm very self destructive, Dina would do everything in her power to try to protect me from myself. which I didn't care for. I'd write something offensive against the warden or staff members Dina would edit it. protecting me as well as them, she was afraid they were going to beat me down or kill me. I was writing some very critical stuff. Dina is loving, compassionate merciful, everything that I'm not. I don't forgive myself, so how am I suppose to forgive others?!" What happened here is I picked up a rock and threw it at the warden (who I seriously dislike). Well the warden threw the rock back at me. Well I kept trying to use the blog to throw more rocks at the warden, Dina being the loving, forgiving compassionate person she is was taking the rocks out of my hand to protect me from myself and to protect the warden. I wanted Dina to be some one that she wasn't. I wanted her to be and act like me. I'm extremely vengeful. I'm one of the idiots.

Page 2 OF 3
I Apologise

of the world who has problems letting go. What I was doing was down right foolish. The warden has complete control over every aspect of my life. yet I didn't care, destructive stupidity! The smart thing to do, would have been to back OFF. Hell the smart thing to do would be not write about the warden and air his dirty laundry on the world wide web, but I don't claim to be smart. And Dina would remind me time and time again "Ronnie you admit you make bad decisions, so let me make this for you and bring this to a stop." By this time I didn't want to hear that. The warden had set me up with four bogus D.R.s suspended my mom's visit threw away my mail for over 2 months destroyed my property in retaliatory shake downs, cut my drinking water OFF, threw away my clothes refused to feed me ect ect. I couldn't see past the vengeance. That's who I am. I wanted Dina's help. I wanted to use the blog to throw rocks at this warden and the jack a do flunkies who was doing things to me. I got upset when Dina wouldn't compromise her values to assist me in taking vengeance against them. It's no secret, I hate Reddish and he hates me. But I was wrong in wanting Dina to be some one and something shes not. She was trying to protect me from myself and the warden from me. I am so very sorry for saying the old blog was fluff and for hurting Dina's feelings. For my point was never to hurt her. I just wanted to get back at this warden. And I wanted him to know that Dina will no longer be there to soften any blows from what I write about I can now seek vengeance on his  For the childish, juvenile unprofessional retaliatory behavior of this stinking low life no good prison Administration. Hey, I told you I'm not the brightest. you see where my heart's at, I'm just very sorry that I offended Dina and hurt her feelings. in my vengeful attempt to get back at this warden, she didn't deserve to be hurt or put through any of this stress of two idiots (the warden and I) and our idiotic feud that goes back over a decade. And I want every one to know especially Dina that I'm very sorry and I truly apologise and ask for her forgiveness.

Page 3
I Apologise

Regretfully
Tracie

Donald W. Clark Jr.
The Death Row Poet
May 1, 2012

