

I Need to Know... "You"

Hello,

I'm writing you today because I believe in my heart that you're out there. I don't know your name, nationality, skin tone, age, occupation, or favorite thing to do in life, but I know you need someone as much as I do.

Our needs are not superficial, We need to feel cared for, appreciated, respected, admired, and most of all loved. We desire to feel completed, accepted, acknowledged, and a part of something special. We want a lot out of life, but nothing more than a life of happiness building memories with one another.

"Today" I felt like I couldn't sit here and not reach out to you...

I've held back too long. I miss you yet

I don't know you. I want you yet I've never had you, and I think of you yet the fantasies have no face. However, today I feel the need to reach out to "You".

Please don't read this and think "He can't be talking about me" because if you "Feel" the way I do about what I wrote...I am talking about you. Today I refused to let you go on another day without knowing, I want you in my life, so I reached out in this blog post to say... finally, we've found one another.

I desperately seek to hear from "You"...It's been too long. Take care and write today...Let not another day go by.
