

Paulo -

So glad to hear you made it home. Hoping all goes well for you. Everybody knows you are home. Sully said he was going to write you over the weekend...that was three weeks ago...he still hasn't written.

Anyways, you said you'll write so I'm waiting for that or at least a little more detail on here. I know things can be hectic, especially at first, but try to send one of us word on what the trip home was like and how everything is there. How's the little one? Never lose sight of how much you missed her.

OK buddy! Keep in touch and check this site out periodically. Miss you, but so glad you are not here anymore.
